THE TURF IN ENGLAND.

THE SHREWSBURY MEETING.

Great Capture of Betting Men.

The Great Shropshire Handicap-The Shobdon Cup-The Shrewsbury Cup-Proceedings of the Authorities to Suppress Betting-The Lord Mayor a New Broom.

The second last week of our flat-racing season was devoted to the Shrewsbury meeting, which was entirely successful. As was pointed out last week in speaking of the Liverpool gathering, the last fixtures of the year are always well patronized for the reason that they afford the last chances for owners of horses to recoup themselves for losses, and to lay past something for the dead mouths when their animals cannot possibly earn anything to pay for their hay and corn. The Shrewsbury meeting is admirably managed and the stakes are very important; so that it need not be wondered at that there were 200 horses at the ancient City was excellent, the fields being in nearly every case very large, while many of the finishes were highly exciting. It is seldom, indeed, that we have such high class racing even at the headquarters of the turf, Newmarket, where there are always about seven hundred horses in training, and the fact speaks highly for the vitality of the English turf. The meeting commenced on Tuesday morn ing and does not finish till this afternoon, and as each day's programme has comprised some nine or ten races, nearly fifty stakes have been competed for altogether. The vast majority of these were of only passing or local interest; but there were several that call for special notice. Among which brought out a field of twenty-two com-petitors, combining some of the best handicap animals of the season, and many of which had previously taken part unsuccessfully in the great handleaps of the past Autumn. The following is a

There were three or four false starts before the tag fell, but when it did the field got away on very fork, and the most prominent of the others were Day Dream, Young Sydmonton and Mornington, After passing the five-furlong post Young Sydmon-ton gave way, and at the bend Mornington ran up clear of Lucy Sutton, Hamlet, Lady Atholstone and Struan. The most conspicuous of the others were Day Dream, on the right, and Highland Fling, who had got off badly, was about half a dozen lengths in rear of the front rank. At the distance Pitchin rear of the front rank. At the distance Pitch-fork was in trouble, and his example was followed almost immediately afterward by Struan and Lucy Sutton. Just before reaching the stand Hamiet dashed forward, but the surprise of the race was the tremendous rush of Highland Fling, who joined issue with Mornington and Hamlet as they Path a length in front of Coloner Carleton's horse. Pitchlork was fourth, Struan fifth and Lucy Sutton sixth.

Deciding Heat—Six to four was laid on Highland Fling, who waited to the bend, where she came out and won in a canter by a couple of lengths—a convincing proof that she could have won the first heat had her jockey made earlier use of her. It may be remembered that she was made at one time a great favorite for the Cambridgeshire, but as she is a very light mare the course, which was very heavy and all up hill, was quite against her. Mornington started first favorite for the Liverpeol Cup last week, but was quite unable to stay the distance, which was a mile and a half, while here It was only a mile. Though Hamlet started at 20 to I he has proved himself a good snimal over short courses, as will be seen from the following return of courses, as will be seen from the following return of

for which he was awarded the stakes, though he did not quite win. There were only four competitors, but they were all of considerable celebrity. Thorn, the two-year-old, is among the very best animals of his age in this country, and, though he has been beaten several times, has always shown great improvement. The German youngster, Amalie von Edelreich, also showed very fair form at the Newmarket Autumn meeting, and is the stable companion of Hochstapler, a "dark" candidate for the Derby, who enjoys a high reputation in private. Oxonian is one of the fastest animals in training over five or six furlongs, and has frequently distinguished himself.

to 1 against Thorn and 8 to 1 against Amalie von Edeireich.

The running was made at first by Hamlet, attended by Amalie von Edeireich, Thorn and Oxonian for about a quarter of a mile. At this point Thorn "hung upon" the two in whose company he lay, and Oxonian was so seriously interfered with that he lost three or four lengths. He made an effort to get between Hamlet and Thorn as they approached the bend, but Thorn again shut him out. The two-year-old went on "running a muck," then cannoned against Hamlet, whom he finally beat, after a good race, by a neck. He was objected to by Jeffery on behalf of Hamlet and by William Day for Oxonian, and after the stewards had heard the case they disqualified the winner and awarded the race to Hamlet.

One of the most interesting races of the week was that for which brought out another fine field of handicap horses. Of these a favorite was feund in Not Out, an animal who last year won the great Eber handicap, and has ever since been expected to perform some important feat. He belongs to a very tricky and cunning party, who have long been waiting to get him favorably handicapped, and evidently thought that on this occasion they had succeeded. Barmston ran third for the Liverpool Cup last week, and, as will be seen from the return, he gained the same place on this occasion. Digby Grand has won several important races this year, among them the City and Suburban and the Prince of Wales Stakes at Epsom, where he always runs far better than he does anywhere eise. Of the others, I need only call attention to Indian Ocean, who won the Shrewsbury Cup as a three year oid, and last year ran second for it. He started now at THE SHREWSBURY CUP of 500 sova, added to a Sweepstakes of 20 sova, each, 10 ft.; winners extra; the second saved his take. About two miles.

One of the most exciting episodes of the season was the

which took place yesterday, just a week after the new Lord Mayor, Sir Sidney Waterlow, entered upon office. He was a new broom, and he determined to sweep clean. There was plenty to sweep, and he had not to goiar to find it. Colonel Praser, the City Commissioner of Police, has always shown great reluctance in dealing with betting within his jurisdiction, while Colonel Henderson, who rules west of Temple Bar, has been extremely active, and has put down all forms of gambling except such as take place in clubs. Tattersail's and the Victoria Club are within his boundaries, but he has not dared to interfere with those. Their constitution is perfectly legal, and the betting which takes place within them is not for ready money, and is consequently not contemplated by the Betting act. Under the mild sway of Colonel Fraser a number of so-called clubs have sprung up in the city where ready money betting is actually carried on, and where, for a paitry admission fee, anybody can speculate in very small sums, the money paid down at the time the bet is made. Of this sort of gambling an enormous quantity goes on and there is more in certain public houses which have long been known as haunts of betting men. The police came down on three of these yesterday and brought their proprictors before the Lord Mayor. Two of them were fined to-day £100 each and one £50. The great raids were, however, on the Alliance Club, in Whitefriars street, of Fleet street, and the Exchange Club, in Water lane, of Blackfriars Bridge. These places were nothing but rough sheds, and their pretensions to be considered clubs were extremely doubtful, but an enormous amount of business was done in them. A strong force of police blockaded each and captured all the members. Such as were merely backers of horses were all taken. They were brought before the Lord Mayor to-day and were remanded, but there is no doubt that all will be heavily fined and some, perhaps, imprisoned.

QUARANTINE MATTERS.

The Bark Columbia Allowed to Come Up , to the City-Inspecting the Buildings

The North German bark Columbia, Captain Schu macher, that arrived in this port one week ago, having smallpox on board to an alarming extent, came up from her anchorage in the Lower Bay yesterday afternoon, and proceeded to her dock. Although five deaths occurred on the passage and twenty-two cases were found in her hold upon arrival, some near unto death, making that portion of the vessel somewhat disgusting, the prompt action of the Health officials at Quarantine and their perfect system in vogue to disinfect a ship rendered the Columbia safe to be brought up near the city, and it would have been a hardship to keep her down the Bay. During the week, in all the 3io passengers that were sent by the officers to the Lower Bay in company with the infected craft, but four additional unfortunates were stricken down with the disease, and those immediately following the precautions taken to prevent the spreading of the malady. This result is most satisfactory to the officers of quarantine, considering the desperate character of some of the emigrants found in the loathsome hold; but it is not the first rival, some near unto death, making that portion medical deputies, are ready for any disease that, insiduous-like, will come to our shores from foreign lands.

The steamboat Fletcher, with Dr. Vanderpoel and one or two of the Quarantine Commissioners, went down the bay yesterday noon as far as Hoffman Island, to inspect the structures now in course of erection thereon for hospitals. These, it will be remembered, are of brick and the larger one is so far advanced that it will be fully enclosed in a few days. The designs of these buildings were especially for the objects desired, and have been commended by all medical men who have taken the trouble to become familiar with them, and no doubt when finished they will be pronounced eminently fitting for their work.

THE LOSS OF THE MISSOURI.

The Investigation Into the Cause of the Disaster Renewed.

The arrival of the four survivors has reopened the investigation, and additional testimony was the investigation, and additional testimony was taken in the case yesterday.

John Freney, first assistant engineer of the Missouri, was examined. They had been obliged to slow the engine irequently, he testified, on account of the loaming of the boilers, for two days; after that time the boilers worked well; one night before the accident he had occasion to crawl over the boilers to fix a leaky valve; had felt around to see if there was any unusual heat, but found everything all right; the beams of the deck above were examined, but no unusual heat could be discovered.

examined, but no unusual heat could be discovered.

Cross-examined by Mr. Matthews—There was no sign of fire or danger of fire at the hour when he went off watch, four A. M.; it was the first trip that the second and third assistant engineers had made on the Missouri; up to the time of the disaster the water had never been low in the boilers; when witness saw the fire first the whole of the deck above the boiler was affire; the pumps had not been started at that time; it took them about four minutes after he arrived to put the hose on; the deck-pump had been working; the fire spread so rapidly that it could not have been extinguished with tre pumps en board.

The witness went on at great length to narrate the progress of the fire, and continued on the stand until two o'clock, when a recess was taken until this morning.

INCENDIARY FIRES IN BROOKLYN. A Reward Offered by the Police Com-

Several of the fires in Brooklyn which have occurred during the past week have, it is believed, been the work of incendiaries. The parties guilty of arson nave managed to clude detection, but the Police Commissioners have offered an inducement for their capture and conviction. GOUNTY JAIL EXPENSES.

A bill of Mr. John M. Tracy, amounting to $22,905 30, for the maintenance of persons confined in Ludlow Street Juli, for eight months, ending 31st August, was submitted for approval.

Supervisor Vancz objected to the bill being approved, inasmuch as he had reason to believe that the bill was an overcharge. He also was convinced that the bill had not been properly examined by those whose duty it was to audit it.

Supervisor Conovers urged that there had been a proper examination of the bill and that everything had been done to facilitate that examination.

Supervisor Falconer called attention to the fact that barrels of potatoes were charged $2.60 when the proper price was $1.

After a short discussion the motion to pay the bill was lost, and it was laid over.

The Board then adjourned to Monday next.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A meeting of the Board of Aldermen was ordered to be held at a quarter past three o'clock yesterday, immediately after the adjournment of the Board of Supervisors. As there was not a quorum present when the Board was called to order the Board adjourned until Monday next at one o'clock.

Later in the session a communication was addressed to the Board in reference to the action of the Clerk's office during the ensuing year. Objections were made to its reading by Assistant Aldermen Robinson and Galvin, but on a vote it was decided to be read. The communication has been already published. A lively and exciting debate followed, chiefly on points of order as to the receiving of this communication by the Board, and it was decided not to receive it, by a vote that, with the exception of Assistant Alderman Connor, was unanimous.

the President of the West Side Association, relative to certain grievances of which property-holders complain in consequence of the allegen allowance of illegal and excessive bills of cost and expenses in the street-opening proceedings and suggesting means of remedy. Mr. Andrew H. Green has addressed to Mr. Martin the subjoined communication:—

Department of Finance, Compredient's Oppice, New York, Dec. 5, 1872.

My Drar Sir.—I have received and read with attention your letter of the 28th uit, relative to the business of street openings in this city. This is a subject to which, as you know, I have given some thought. A bill, prepared, as I understand, by you, was introduced in the Legislature last Winter which nad the same general object as that proposed by you now—to wit, the opening of all unopened streets in one proceeding. It seems to me that you have demonstrated that as to streets above 156th street list can be done under the law as it now stands, and as to those below 156th street laid out by the Commissioners of 1897, a very slight modification of existing law is all that will be necessary.

I shall gladly render any aid in my power in the adoption and execution of measures to correct the great wrongs that have been perpetrated upon property owners under the guise of street openings and in obviating all possibility of these abuses hereafter.

At the next meeting of the Park Commissioners I intend to introduce a series of resolutions looking to the should appear that no obstacle exists the greated unopened streets and avenues in one or two proceedings under existing law, a great step will be gained. It will save much to property owners, and break up a business that has unjustly enriched some of those engaged in it, and it will also greatly advance the development and settlement of the upper portion of the island. Very truly yours,

Andrew H. Green Scholer West side Association.

ales of property to come off at the Real Estate Exchange yesterday, and in consequence a large crowd of anxious operators assembled there at the appointed hour. The centre of attraction was the Fifth avenue property proferred for sale by V, K. Stevenson & Son and Anthony J. Bleecker, Son & Co. The former had a choice lot, 25x100, on the street, while the latter offered a house and lot on the east side of the same avenue, between Nine-proportions to carry the day.

The lot corner of Ninetieth street has been "bulled" for several days past, and judging from the talk of those parties it was confidently ex-pected that it would realize at least $60,000, and here were even parties who insanely anticipated that the plot would be run up to $62,500. The first bid offered was $42,500, and the price was gradu-ally increased by offers of $500 until $47,000 was reached, when the increase was more sparing and grudgingly noted. At last the figure of $50,000 was arrived at, but no addition could be obtained by the auctioneer, Mr. Bailey, who tried all his bian-dishments in vain, however, to run the price up higher. Mr. F. M. Green, who offered the last bid, had the property knocked down to him. This ended the agony, and the bears had won the victory.

The sale of this lot was absolute, the owner, Mr Salter, an American merchant, doing business in China, having ordered its peremptory disposal. Considering the stringency of the money market, the price realized for this corner estate was fully as much as it is worth. In fact, a plot of ten lots south of Ninetieth street, and every way in as eligible a location, is now offered for $400,000, thus including two corner lots on the avenue and two on the side street, the former of which can be divided into six lots of 33.4 feet front, a most desirable proportion for a first class residence, for only a trifle more than this twenty-five foot lot was At the same time the above sale was progressing Anthony J. Bleecker was hard at work trying to induce the crowd to give him the full value for the four story high stoop brown stone front house No. 123 Fifth avenue, 22.6x65x100 feet, between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets. The most the veteran auctioneer could obtain was a bid of $76,500, at which he knocked the property down to Mr. S. H. Holmes, who represents the owner. The same auctioneer had also eight lots in Westchester county advertised for sale, but receiving only a bid of $500 a piece thereon, withdrew them.

BIMOKLYN PROPERTY AT AUCTION.

One of the most important sales of the day was had yesterday, at the Commercial Exchange Rooms, in Brooklyn, at which an immense concourse of people, from this city as well as Brooklyn, assembled. The room was crammed to its utmost repiction. The object of this assembly was the advertised partition sale, by order of the Supreme Court, of 1,250 lots and gores of land, located in the Twenty-first ward of Brooklyn. The property thus disposed of belonged to the well known estate of the late Leffert Lefferts, and was sold by J. Cole, auctioneer, per order of George J. Murphy, referee. The prices realized were fabulously night; the bidders seemed to be carried away with the excitement, and paid more for their purchases than surrounding property would bring at private sale.
